Course Topic: Successfully Supporting Women During the Childbearing Years with TCM A Fresh Perspective on Fertility, Pregnancy, Birth & Postpartum for the Modern Practitioner

Presenter: Dr. Deb Davies, DACM, L.Ac. is passionately following her calling by supporting 1000's of families naturally throughout their pregnancy, birth, and postpartum journeys. She's a Chinese medicine doctor, an educator, a mentor, a Best Selling author, a birth doula, and a mother. Deb created PUSH Professional's online mentorship program for licensed acupuncturists that teaches them everything they'd want to know about pregnancy, birth & postpartum. Her mission statement is to empower pregnant couples to have safe and healthy pregnancies, births, and recoveries by offering natural options in healthcare. Dr. Deb's goal would be to have an acupuncturist at every Labor & Delivery in hospitals around the world

Program Description: This engaging, 8-hour live CEU course offers licensed acupuncturists and advanced students a holistic yet practical roadmap to supporting women during the full spectrum of the childbearing years. From fertility struggles and assisted reproductive technologies to pregnancy complications, labor challenges, and postpartum recovery, this class blends Traditional Chinese Medicine principles with real-world clinical experience and up-to-date Western medical insight.

Participants will deepen their confidence in working with OB/GYN-related conditions, IUI/IVF protocols, and common pregnancy and postpartum concerns using acupuncture and Chinese herbal strategies. The course also explores the intersection of East-West care, offering valuable knowledge on how medical management functions across peripartum phases—and how TCM practitioners can collaborate more effectively within that structure. Expect a mix of clinical pearls, case examples, and hands-on, practical tools that you can immediately apply in practice
